Always test the birdhouse indoors before mounting outside.

During low light conditions, the IR LED's will automatically turn on, resulting in a black & white display.

Certain electronics may interfere with the camera reception; such as cordless telephones and wireless internet routers.

Microwave ovens will interfere with the signal while in use.

Your neighbors' microwave oven, cordless telephone and wireless router may also interfere with your camera reception.

Temporary interference will occur if the wireless signal is obstructed, such as by moving the receiver or walking through the signal path.
